

HOME-TALENT PLAYERS WIN HIGH PRAISE IN PRESENTING COMEDY

The 'Flapper Grandmother'
Scores Big Hit at High School Tuesday.

SPECIALTIES GOOD; 850 ATTEND

The Parent-Teacher's Association realized a goodly sum of money from their show "The Flapper Grandmother" presented Tuesday evening under the direction of the Wayne H. Sewell company and personally directed by Miss Fretwell of that company and Mrs. Richard Allner, president of the P. T. A. Much credit is due Mrs. Allner and her assistants for their untiring efforts to make the show go over.

Auto Romance Pleases.

The curtain raiser was an "Auto-Romance" given by Helen Kettelhut and Rex Bonser accompanied by the Flapper Chorus, of eight charming young ladies. A broken down diver occupying the center of the stage, belonged to Jimmie Swift who invited the very modern Lena Spriggins to go for a ride in his "well" car. She accepts, and when she takes the wheel the fun begins. The result was being arrested for speeding by the handsome speed cop, portrayed by Carl Anderson who falls for the vamping of Lena and lets her go with a small fine after a mock trial by members of her family. Her father, Andrew Spriggins, really L. R. Watson, but hardly recognizable in his wig and make-up as an old man, breaks up the trial by his remarks about Lena and women in general.

Beauty While You Wait.

Mrs. Dell Mathews as Andrew's wife making life miserable for him by insisting on the purchase of a new car, had a well chosen part. The leading character Magie Pepper, the

YOUTH DROWNS WHILE SKATING AT PETITE LAKE

Royal Martin of Chicago
Drowned Sunday; Companions Rescued.

Tragedy marked the end of a pleasure trip Sunday for four young men when Royal E. Martin, one of the youths, aged 22, of 6649 North Fairfield avenue, Chicago, broke through the ice on Petite Lake, four miles west of Antioch, and was drowned after the vain attempts of his companions to rescue him.

Martin, with three friends had been skating for about thirty minutes on the smooth surface, when the ice suddenly gave way beneath him and he plunged into twelve feet of water.

Rescue Efforts Futile

An Martin sank and reappeared his companions summoned Carl Martin, grandfather of the deceased who hurried out on the ice with a ladder which he shoved across the hole. But weakened by his struggle to keep above water and numbed by the cold the young man was so exhausted that he could not retain his grasp on a rung of the ladder and he again slipped into the water not to rise again.

His companions who hurried to his rescue and known as good swimmers also broke through the ice and after a desperate struggle were able to pull themselves upon the ice completely exhausted.

The Antioch fire department was called to the scene of the tragedy. Chief James Stearns with several of his assistants hurried there and after a search of two hours recovered the body with grappling hooks. The body was brought to Strang's undertaking rooms of this city where an inquest was directed by Coroner John L. Taylor Monday. The verdict "accidental drowning" was returned.

Martin, who was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Martin of Chicago, had come to Petite Lake with his friends to spend the week end with his grandfather, Carl Martin, who retains a home there, and in celebration of the latter's birthday.

The parents were notified of the accident Sunday night and arrangements were made for the removal of the body to Chicago, where funeral services were held Tuesday.

Festimonial Dinner Is To Be Followed by Rally;
Smith Toastmaster.

L. L. EMMERSON WILL BE THERE

Arrangements to seat 650 guests at the testimonial dinner to William J. Stratton, Lake county man who is a candidate for secretary of state, were announced yesterday by the general committee in charge of the dinner to be given at the Waukegan high school gymnasium on Saturday evening, March 17, at 6:30 o'clock.

Col. A. V. Smith will be toast master. Attorney Max Przyborski reports that the seating capacity for the dinner is 650, while seats for 2,200 persons can be provided at the rally. Mr. Przyborski said that there is a possibility that Senator Charles S. Deneen will be among the speakers at the dinner and rally. Secretary of State Louis L. Emmerson, candidate for governor; Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom, who is seeking reelection; and Otis Glenn, United States senatorial candidate, have promised faithfully to be present and to make addresses.

Name New Officials

The general committee Tuesday elected Attorney R. W. Churchill of Grayslake and Supervisor William J. Obee of Highland Park, secretary and treasurer, respectively, of the organization. Frank H. Just, editor of the Waukegan Daily News, was elected chairman of the publicity committee.

Attorney Przyborski said that the dinner is not for men alone as many seem to believe, but that the women folks are welcome at the affair. State's Attorney A. V. Smith is to be the toastmaster at the testimonial dinner. Several Lake county men will probably be on the program for short talks. There will be a band and other entertainment.

There is to be a reception between 6 and 6:30 o'clock and all Republican precinct committeemen in Lake county are to be members of the reception committee. They are urged to be at the high school gymnasium shortly before 6 o'clock.

CITY BRIEFS

The Antioch Boat Building Co. has purchased a new trailer to be used in making deliveries of boats and motors. George Rhodes went to Milwaukee Tuesday to bring the trailer home, but came near not doing so as the trailer became unhooked from George's car just as he was leaving the city and he was a mile or over down the road when he discovered his loss.

The Wetzel Chevrolet Sales has sold a car every day so far during the month of March.

FACTORY REBUILDING STARTS THIS WEEK; OFFICIALS OPTIMISTIC

Henry Dreesman, Burlington Contractor, Awarded Reconstruction Job.

NEW BUILDING WILL BE BETTER

Contractor Henry Dreesman, of Burlington, Tuesday began the work of rebuilding the Corona Pen factory building that was destroyed by fire February 20. The contract for the reconstruction was signed Tuesday morning and before noon a large crew of workmen were clearing away the debris and actual work of rebuilding the walls was in progress.

Local Contractors on Job.
Contractor Dreesman immediately let the contract for carpenter work to J. E. Sibley & Son, and the mason work to Hans Johnson, both local contracting firms. Mr. Dreesman is also employing local labor so far as is possible.

According to the terms of the contract the building is to be completed in thirty-five working days from the date of signing.

The new factory building is to be better than the original one, and will have the added advantage of two more rooms at the rear for storing and curing stock.

"The factory will be completed in less time than the contract specifies if favorable weather conditions prevail," General Manager Walter R. Borman said, expressing himself as being particularly well pleased with the way Contractor Dreesman tackled the job. Then he took the writer to the pen company's property just north of the factory site to show that the Corona company is in production. There Walter J. Baker, superintendent, was found busily engaged in reproducing some of the new models that were lost in the fire. "You haven't seen anything yet," Mr. Baker remarked, throwing open the door to the large stock room where piles and piles of material lay waiting to be made into the best fountain pens in the whole world. After very expertly repairing a fountain pen for Bill Huber and demonstrating the inflammability of some of the material used in a pen factory, Baker went back to his hobby—model making.

Enthusiasm is a fine thing for business officials to possess, and that's just what Borman and Baker have, to the fullest degree.

Gurnee Residents Vote To Become A Village

Gurnee, a community for ninety years, voted to become a village on Tuesday at an election held there by a vote of 90 to 4.

This village was settled in 1834 and at one time was as important as its neighbor Waukegan, but was soon outgrown because of Waukegan's location on the lake. A few months ago citizens started a campaign to incorporate but was never carried out until a threat from Waukegan to annex territory and take land up to the very doors of this community. The election followed and Gurnee is now an incorporated village.

ANTIOCH IS VICTOR IN SEASON'S FINAL WITH WAUCONDA

Lightweights Win Final Game With Score of 12 to 5.

Antioch discarded their "stall" in their last game of the season at Wauconda last Thursday night and returned home with the advantage in a 12 to 5 score.

Coach Watson outgunned Coach Harr at the start of the game by playing Spicer at guard. Two of the Wauconda men were put on Spicer and while they were at the other end of the floor guarding him, Sheehan was left free to make several nice "sucker" shots after receiving long passes. At about the end of the first quarter, regular line-up was used and the score was 8 to 6 in favor of Antioch.

The second quarter found Sheehan and Bernolfo getting away for several easy baskets which put Antioch into a 21 to 11 lead at the half.

In the second half the game got rather rough but this did not prevent Antioch from running up a score that came very near tying the conference records.

Spicer was held to two baskets in the first half, but he came back in the second half and connected six times to help his team make run the score to 43 while Wauconda was held to nine points to make their total 20.

The Antioch lightweight team also won their final game by defeating Wauconda lights 12 to 5. The Antioch boys had held Wauconda to three free throws until the final minute of the game when they scored their only field goal.

The Lightweights have a good record this year, having won 8 and lost 2 Conference games. Arlington Heights was the only team to take them into camp in both games. They also have victories over the Waukegan Freshmen and Allendale to their credit.

The work will be completed in about three weeks and church services will be held in the basement during that time.

WARREN IS ANTIOCH'S FOE IN DIST. TOURNNEY; FIRST CAME TONIGHT

Locals Expected to Prove Stumbling Block to Conference Champs.

The district basketball tournament is on tonight, with Antioch engaging Gurnee in the first game to be staged at the Waukegan high school gym at 7:30 o'clock. Quite a large number of local fans will accompany the team to Waukegan.

Warren, tied with Barrington for the Northwestern Conference championship, has been "doped" to win the district meet, however, dope many times has proved to be valueless. "Dope means nothing to us—we are going to try to win," Coach Watson said in his usual optimistic way today.

The Gurnee-Antioch fracas is expected to be an interesting one since these two schools are the most bitter of "friendly" rivals. During the last game season Gurnee has claimed two victories over their tonight's opponents and has been defeated by them once.

The game between the two teams of the western section of the county will mark the opening of what promises to be one of the hardest contested three-day sessions anywhere in the state, promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

At 8:30 the New Trier-Waukegan aggregations will take the floor to play what promises to be the most interesting game of the entire season.

Antioch, under the tutelage of Coach Watson, has been a tough customer for all the schools in the Northwest Conference. They have lost four games, though all of them by close scores. However, they partly erased the effect of these defeats by defeating Warren in the Northwest Tournament. The Antioch boys have been using a stalling of offense, but there are rumors to the effect that they have changed to a quick breaking type of play. Spicer, Antioch's six-foot center, is a good man both on offense and defense, and is perhaps the best free throw man in the tournament. Steininger at guard, and Bernolfo, at forward, have starred for their club all through the season.

Arlington Heights has had an up-and-down season, but it is a fast aggressive team and refuses to concede anything to its opponents. Holte, at forward, has proven to be the "big gun" all season, and Arlington Heights' opponents must keep Coach Cressy's star well covered to prevent him from going on a scoring spree.

Palatine is a great long-shot team. A rival coach, when approached on the chances of Coach Kincald's quintet, said, "They are a good long-shot team; they all shoot and they all make 'em." Smith, a veteran with three years of varsity competition, is the main power of the defense. Grandy, another veteran, has been playing a great game at guard, and has proven to be a steady influence to his less experienced teammates.

Wauconda will have the smallest team in the tournament, but they are very fast. The entire team are all good floor men and good shots.

Increase In Employees Not Necessary, Says Secy. Emmerson

Government Is Prostituted
To Build Machine, 'Lou' Charges.

Olney, Ill., March 8.—There is only one outstanding issue in the present campaign—that of good government, Louis L. Emmerson, Republican candidate for Governor, told large crowds of Republicans in Southern Illinois. The Secretary of State spoke Tuesday and Wednesday at Robinson, Lawrenceville, Flora, Salem, Centralia, Mt. Vernon, Benton, West Frankfort, Murphysboro and Marion.

Mr. Emmerson told the people that they and the other voters of the state will have the opportunity April 10 of putting an end to "a system of administration which has prostituted every function of government for the building up of a political machine solely for selfish purposes."

"Concern to Every Voter."
"What the state government does and how it does it are questions of immediate concern to every voter," Mr. Emmerson said. "Governmental functions are so interwoven with the business life of the commonwealth that mismanagement affects almost every individual and certainly every tax payer."

"Such important duties as the regulation of public utility service and the fixing of utility rates, the administration of the health laws by the state health department and the licensing of men who are to practice medicine and dentistry, the building of highways, the administration of the state institutions which house 50,000 state wards, the operation of the insurance department and the supervision of safety in factories and mines are vital to the well-being of the people of the state."

Extravagance Should Stop.
"The administration of these departments should no longer be subservient to the building up of political power. There should be a check on governmental extravagance."

"In the administration of the offices of Secretary of State I have undertaken to prove that business principles can be applied in a public office. I speak from experience, therefore, and not from mere theory when I say that the State government can be operated efficiently and economically."

"The business of the Secretary of State's department has increased enormously during my administration, but we have managed to keep expenditures within reason."

"For the biennium prior to the beginning of the present administration, the total cost of operation of the office of Secretary of State required over 17 per cent. of the total amount collected, while for the fiscal period ended July 1, 1927, expenditures for operation, including all expenses of maintenance and operation of the Capitol Building, Centennial Building and Power Plant, from which no revenue was derived, amounted to less than 6 1/2 per cent. of the total receipts. Transatlantic Flights of Birds Are Common

Long distance flights of birds are common. Many species that spend their summers in the United States and Canada fly almost the length of the Western Hemisphere and spend the northern winter in the summer of Argentina and Chile. Longdistance flights over water may be less common.

Two black-headed gulls banded in Rossett, Germany, were recaptured one at Bridgetown, Barbados, in the British West Indies, and the other on the midland of Mexico, near Vera Cruz. Two kittiwakes, banded at the Frade Islands, Northumberland, England, were recovered almost directly across the Atlantic at points on the coasts of Labrador and Newfoundland. A common tern banded at Eastern Egg Rock, Me., crossed both the Atlantic Ocean and the Equator and was recovered from the data of the Niger River, British West Africa. A young Arctic tern, banded in Labrador, was recently found dead near La Rochelle, on the coast of France.

but the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture has conclusive evidence that some birds do fly across the Atlantic. This evidence is the result of bird banding activities that have proved so useful in the study of the habits and habits of birds.

Ancient Agriculture Reflected in Terracing

The practice of terracing hillsides or rolling land in order to prevent soil erosion and provide a level surface for growing crops has been practiced since agriculture began, but American farmers are now terracing their land to a greater extent and in a more skillful manner than has ever been done before, says the research department of the National Association of Farm Equipment Manufacturers. As practiced in ancient times, terracing consisted of building land up in a series of level areas separated by vertical walls. This type is seldom used now except in landscape gardening, as it offers a serious obstacle to the use of improved farm machinery. The present type of terrace consists of a series of low ridges built up on hillsides at intervals close enough together to prevent water running down hill. The ridges, however, are not high enough to prevent farming over them. The natural contours of the land or lines along the hillsides and between points of the same elevation are followed with the terrace, which may be constructed, with plows, scrapers, or other tools for moving considerable quantities of dirt a short distance.

Terracing prevents soil erosion, as the water is forced to soak into the ground instead of running down the hillside, thus increasing the fertility of the soil, and, in dry areas, increasing the moisture content of the soil to aid in obtaining larger crop yields. Terracing is coming to be practiced Southern—both southeast and southwest—states such as the Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Oklahoma and Texas, as much of the soil in these states washes or erodes easily. It is estimated that the washing away of soil takes $200,000,000 annually from the pockets of American farmers.

An opinion given by Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom to Director Roy Ide of the state department of public welfare indicates that the state parole board has been exceeding its authority on the discharge of prisoners.

This opinion answered questions concerning the authority of the parole board, asked by Elmer J. Green warden at Illinois state penitentiary. The only means, the attorney general answered, by which a prisoner may be released are: parole, transfer or discharge before parole.

"It is my opinion," Mr. Carlstrom said, "that the parole board cannot order the release or discharge of a prisoner except under these conditions, and if the board releases a prisoner otherwise, it is exceeding its statutory authority."

"It was further the evident intention of the legislature to require the warden of the penitentiary to keep a correct record of all prisoners received or discharged or released from his institution. When the parole board orders a prisoner released or discharged, the warden's records should show all the orders contained therein which are relative or pertinent thereto."

Flapper Grandmother, mother of Andrew, taken by Mrs. Fern Lux was exceptionally good in the part. Maggie, quite old rebels at the thought of old age, and when she becomes a millionaire as a result of investments goes to Europe in the quest of youth. Clarence Shultz as Dr. Joy, a suitor of Maggie doesn't approve of her new fangled ideas and swears eternal allegiance until she can decide what to do with his fate. Belinda Spriggins, hopelessly old fashioned sister of the modern Lena set the audience into gales of laughter when she entertained Bobby Smith, the cast-off beau of Lena. These amusing parts were taken by Mrs. Georgia Nelson and Charles Kessler.

Black Faces Are Screaming
Two other laugh provoking characters were J. C. Nixon as Rastus, who courts Lilly White who is Otto Klass in feminine attire with a pillow in front to bolster up his shape.

A plot between Dr. Joy and Andrew results in Grandma being called home. When she arrives confusion and consternation reign among the matrons of Blingville at the magic change wrought by the foreign beauty doctors. Belinda, who accompanied Maggie is also changed into an English lady and shows a disdainful regard for all the home folks. After a few days at home when all the matrons show their anxiety to become beautiful too, and express disapproval in the same breath, when the wrath of Lena and Belinda is brought down upon her head and when Count Seekum-Rich (W. C. Petty) throws her aside when he hears she has lost her money, then The Flapper Grandmother sees the error of her choice and promises Doctor Joy to become his wife and joy reigns unconfined.

Talent Displayed in Specialties
The play as a whole was well acted, and every character deserves special mention for their good work. The solo and chorus numbers showed talent that Antioch people can well be proud of. The specialties between acts were given by the Galbraith Steppers in a series of dance steps, two solos by Mrs. Elmer Brook and selections by the High School orchestra. Mrs. G. W. Jensen, as accompanist deserves credit for her musical talent in putting over the various solos and chorus numbers.

Foot Light Flashes.
The popular old song "When You and I were Young, Maggie" furnished the music for the Maggie chorus. Costumed in quaint frocks, they gave a dance of the days gone by.

Four boys comprised the Jelly Bean chorus. Their accompaniment to the Flapper Grandmother's song in the last act won much applause.

Eight tiny tots from the Primary class made a hit in their rag doll dance, and the door knobs with faces on the backs of their heads gave a clever interpretation of a dummy dance.

Clarence Shultz possesses a splendid tenor voice and delighted the crowd with the rendition of several solos.

Praise is due the members of the Antioch Volunteer Fire Department who volunteered to handle the parking of cars and help seat the crowd. The ushers were helpless when the rush for seats begun and there was some confusion until the firemen arrived and soon had everyone provided with a seat. The Parent-Teacher's Association wishes to thank them for their assistance through the columns of this paper for their splendid cooperation.

Altogether it was one of the biggest and best home talent plays ever given here and fifty cents was a nominal charge for the evening's entertainment.

The Matrons in their efforts to imitate the beauty exercises of the Flapper Grandmother were side splitting.

The Flapper chorus presented by eight young ladies were quite professional in their many chorus and dance numbers.

Members Tell In Rhyme How They Earned Money For the Society

At a meeting of the Thimble Bee last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Addie Williams, each lady was required to give a dollar that she had earned during the month of January, and with it to read a poem telling how she had earned it.

Forty-nine ladies were present at this meeting and many clever poems were read but one of the outstanding poems was that of Mrs. Addie Williams, hostess, and who served ten years as president of the Ladies Aid. The poem is written in free verse and merits the praise that friends of Mrs. Williams have given it. Below is the poem as read by her at the Thimble Bee.

With coming spring
One feels the urge
To dream or moon
Or cut a splurge.

In writing verses by the mile
In almost any form or style,
Our Ladies Aid a short time back
Sought succor from the daily rack

Of prose and humdrum grinding labor
To gather in each friend and neighbor,
For purposes both good and fetching,
Of furnishing a modern kitchen.

A certain night was set apart
When each might do her little part
By bringing in her worthy mite.
And any verse she wished to write.

To tell one how she earned her money
In poems solemn, bland or funny.
The ladies came in costumes grand,
Some "made abroad and some by hand.

Some never seen in any land.
Joy reigned supreme,
It was a scream.

Then Mrs. Watson copped a prize
Her poem pointing to the skies
Where Lindbergh keeps our watchful eyes.

So now I've tried to do my share
My dollar came not from the air,
"Old rags old iron" comes the cry
And straightway to the door I fly.

"Take this old turnace from my yard"
For me the labor was not hard.
But it was work to break your heart
To see them load it on their cart.

And this the lesson often learned
That "twopence saved is sixpence earned."
So here's the dollar earned by me

Emmerson Charges "Politics" Adds to State's Expenses

is operating on a basis of three and one-half per cent.

Governor Stingy With Secretary.
"The appropriations made for my office by the last General Assembly show a decrease as compared with the previous biennium.

"This is not a mere happening. It is a result of careful business methods applied in this state office just as in a bank or commercial house.

"It was my theory at the beginning of my administration that public office could be managed in a business like way and I take considerable pride in the fact that this theory has proved tenable in 11 years' experience.

"The reductions in the appropriations for the office of Secretary of State is in striking contrast with the situation in some other departments. The same legislature which approved these reduced appropriations for the Secretary of State has increased the net appropriations of other departments by $11,000,000 as compared with the previous biennium.

Charges "Politics."
"About $5,000,000 of this $11,000,000 increase is for additional salaries and wages of regular and extra employees in the governor's departments.

"What, you may well ask, is the state doing today that requires one thousand more employees than were necessary two years ago?

"I know nothing in the business of the executive branches of state government that makes necessary any increase in employees, to say nothing of so huge an army.

"There is but one answer—politics. Everything in the state government is made subservient to the building of a political machine the purpose of which is to perpetuate in office the present incumbent in the governor's chair, his family, his relatives and his political associates."

A lot of folks say they're going to have a garden this year that will take the prize. They all talk that way while reading the seed catalogue. But we want to see the garden next July.

We understand that "Count Seek-un Rich" has returned to Europe, don'tcherknow.

It's a short road that has no tourist camps.

AUCTION SALE Friday, March 9 - 1:03 p. m.

Sale Held on Premises Rain or Shine

40 ACRES WITH SOME LAKE FRONTAGE

A beautiful 40 acre estate which the owners have authorized us to offer for sale at public auction. Never before in the history of our experience have we offered a property with so many possibilities as this acreage. This beautiful property lies in the Land of Lakes, located at SILVERLAKE, WISCONSIN, 62 miles from Chicago, about 30 miles from Kenosha. Several highways lead within a mile of this choice property.

This acreage embodies about 40 acres of the choicest property in this community. 16 acres of which is wooded, also being one of the highest points in this community. A million dollar view is to be had from this point. This would make a wonderful spot for some millionaire's home, having this marvelous view and hundreds of shade trees. It would also make an ideal spot for a club house or sanatorium. Physicians who could view this beautiful estate could not help but realize that this beautiful property has in store for a sanatorium or hospital.

There are now a number of very prominent families living along the shores of SILVERLAKE. Families who have gained success and now wish to enjoy it could find their peace and contentment living at such an ideal place such as this one we are offering. It is very rare to find a property with 10 acres beautifully wooded such as this one. A great deal of surrounding property has been subdivided into lots which are bringing a very large price so there is very little property available at SILVERLAKE.

From a farming stand point this would make an ideal dairy. It would also be very fine for truck gardening for the soil is of the best and most anything could be grown that could be grown in the surrounding country. With the markets so close at hand you are assured of top prices for anything you might raise or grow.

The lake at SILVERLAKE offers all that may be desired, hunting, fishing, boating and bathing. The lake is shallow with a sandy bottom being far from treacherous.

The improvements consist of a 7 room modern home located on one of the many building sites overlooking Silverlake. Practically large new barn, 2 chicken coops, wind mill, corn crib and garage.

One of our salesmen will gladly take you out and show you this property. Familiarize yourself with values in the community and the day of the sale make us an offer just what you think it is worth to you.

BE SURE TO ATTEND THIS SALE

STATE CAPITOL ITEMS

The 2-cent gasoline tax law, under which more than $7,000,000 has been collected, has been relegated to the scrap heap. The Supreme Court of Illinois held the law invalid and branded the much discussed measure as "an unintelligible piece of legislation."

The decision prepared by Justice Floyd E. Thompson, of Rock Island, reverses a decision of the circuit court of Kane county, where the law was held valid. The finding, attorneys declare, made it impossible for the state to credit counties their proportionate share for road purposes. Provisions of the act were declared by the Supreme Court to be in violation of the federal constitution.

As a result of the decision, road building will be curtailed in future years.

"The decision of the court in finding the gasoline tax unconstitutional will not check the Illinois road building program this year," Governor Small said recently.

The money collected will remain in the general fund in the state treasury until appropriated for a specific purpose by the general assembly. Companies which have paid the tax under protest may have recourse before the state court of claims, but attorneys say there is no possibility of a refund to car owners who have paid the tax since last August. Any refund would probably go to gasoline distributors as the tax provided for in the law was indirect so far as motorists were concerned.

The law was branded as discriminatory against motorists because the gas tax did not apply to users of gas oil for other purposes, because it differentiated in the treatment of gasoline for other purposes, because it differentiated in the treatment of gasoline and kerosene, both fuels, and because it did not affect electrically propelled vehicles. The law also violates the fourteenth amendment to the federal constitution, which guarantees equal protection to all, and that it imposes a double tax, the license fee being the other.

The passage of the two-cent gasoline tax at the last session of the general assembly was one of the thrills which came some time before adjournment. The first bill went down to defeat but on the next legislative day was revived and passed after a terrible fight. It was signed by the governor and became effective Aug. 1, last.

Road building in Illinois will virtually cease in three years if no tax is levied on gasoline, Chief Highway Engineer Frank T. Sheets told University of Illinois short course engineers a few days ago in commenting on the Supreme Court's action in holding the present gas tax law unconstitutional.

Road work proposed in many counties will be held up and programs which would have been completed in 1932 will not be completed until 1940 or later as the result of no gasoline tax, he said. He forecast that another law to collect a gasoline tax would be worked out and enacted, overcoming the constitutional objections found by the high court in the present bill.

Extolling the advantage derived from a sun-tanned skin but denouncing as worthless many of the devices alleged to produce the health-giving rays, Dr. Isaac D. Hawlings, state health director, declared in a statement issued a few days ago that there is no substitute equivalent to the smile of Old Sol himself and that the health promoting value of sunshine increased noticeably in this latitude on March 1.

Necessary to good nutrition as well as for the prevention of such diseases as rickets, the volume of the ultra-violet rays from the sun has been at its lowest ebb since last December, but will increase fully eightfold before the end of May. The sharpest advance occurred about March 1. This very probably accounts for much of the disturbances at this time of the year manifested the greatest seasonal amount of illness and the largest number of suicides.

Obstructed by smoke, dust, clouds and glass, the shortest rays of the sun, ordinarily called ultra-violet because of the color produced in the and nevertheless most vital to human health and their absence causes grave nutritional disturbances that manifest themselves in bow legs, sore teeth, enlarged head growth, lack of muscle tone," Dr. Hawlings said. "All ways far less abundant than the ordinary light and heat producing rays, the sun's winter trip to the south reduces the volume of the rare ultra-violet to a very minimum in this latitude during December, January and February."

In an opinion announced a few days ago, Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom holds that the removal of a precinct committeeman from the district in which he was elected does not constitute a vacancy, but whether such a vacancy exists is a party question.

The ruling is the first to be given since the primary act of 1927 was declared valid by the Supreme Court.

Attackers of the act have consistently held that failure to provide means for filling vacancies left by the death or removal of a precinct committeeman was fatal to the act's constitutionality. The court held that appointment of committeemen to fill vacancies was a power inherent in the party committee.

Courts of Illinois, Carlstrom said in his opinion, made at the request of the state's attorney of Ford county, have not passed upon the matter of when a vacancy exists. A Virginia court, however, determined a similar question, holding in effect that the county central committee had jurisdiction over the party organization. Under his ruling, Carlstrom held, the committee should establish, in conformity with its own rules and precedents, whether or not such a vacancy exists.

A dangerous cattle disease, known as contagious pyelonephritis, heretofore unknown in Illinois, was discovered a few days ago in Fayette county by cattle experts from the University of Illinois college of agriculture.

It is impossible to judge the significance of the disease, due to inability to trace the source of infection, declared Dr. Robert Graham, animal hygienic expert at the college. It does mean, he said, that a contagious kidney disease exists, which breeders and herd owners of the state must recognize.

Centerville was chosen as the place for holding the next annual meeting of the Illinois Farmers' Institute at the annual meeting of the officers and directors held in the Capital City a few days ago. The meeting will be held in February, 1929.

Officers re-elected were: President, W. G. Curtis, Stockton; vice president, Wm. Webb, Plainfield; secretary, H. E. Young, Springfield; auditor-treasurer, Clayton C. Pickett, Chicago. Ex-officio members of the board of directors are as follows: Superintendent of Public Instruction, F. G. Blair, Springfield; dean of the college of agriculture, Herbert W. Mumford, Urbana; director state department of agriculture, S. J. Starn, and, Springfield; president state horticultural society, W. R. Soverhill, Tiskilwa; president State Dairymen's association, W. S. O'Hair, Paris.

Edmund M. Allen, warden of Joliet penitentiary and noted exponent of the honor system among convicts, died suddenly a few days ago of pneumonia at the Ravenswood hospital in Chicago. He was 53 years old.

Mr. Allen resigned his post as warden in 1925 when his wife was slain by a product of the honor system she had helped her husband build up. For the past few years he had been a business promoter in Chicago. Before his term as warden he was mayor of Joliet. His father was warden of the prison under Governor Altgeld.

The state department of public works and buildings is arranged for hearings in Springfield and Pittsfield next month to determine the location of several proposed state hard roads.

It is expected that Governor Small will speak at both hearings, which will be conducted by Col. C. R. Miller, director of the department and Frank T. Sheets, chief state highway engineer.

The tentative date for the Springfield hearing is March 14. Most interest probably will center on the location of the North Walnut street road which will connect with the Peoria road and shorten the travel distance to the north three and one-half miles.

The Pittsfield hearing was scheduled for March 5, with residents hoping that the locations for more than 100 miles of hard roads would be discussed. Among the roads talked of are Route 100 from Meredosia to Kampsville, Route 105 from Liberty to Meredosia, Route 106 from Route 36 between Harry and Payson west to the Mississippi river opposite Hannibal, and Route 107 from Griggsville through Pittsfield to the river opposite Louisiana.

Mainly to Point Out Why

State Senator Rodney B. Swift

deserves to have you go to the polls April 10, and vote for his nomination for another term as State Senator of the 8th District—Lake, McHenry, and Boone Counties

QUALIFICATIONS

Born in Maine and moved to Iowa a boy where working for a dealer in farm implements and teaching school he saved the money to pay his way through the Iowa State College, Ames, and graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree and then through the Law Department of the Iowa State University, Iowa City.

He spent 25 years in the implement manufacturing business holding positions as assistant to the general manager, patent attorney, head of the experimental department and general attorney, and traveled over the world where grain and grass are grown. The Government of France awarded him a gold medal for his services to agriculture. Owning one-third of the Keystone Company which was sold to the International Harvester Company, he bought land in this and other states and established the Rodney farms at Libertyville where he imported, bred and dealt in cattle, horses and hogs. He was president of the Milk Producers' Association when it won the strike for better prices, the only time when an organization of farmers demanded and got its price for its commodities.

He has been president of his local school board and was the first president of the Libertyville Township High School Board. He was director for years of the Farmers' State Institutes, has been on the Committee on Education in the state senate for 12 years and is now and has been for years one of the advisory council of the Illinois State University. The sale of 300 acres of his Libertyville farm to the Catholic Archbishop for the seminary at Mundelein and the desire to get children nearer to the schools along the North Shore caused him to locate at Highland Park where he now resides.

DUTIES

The statutes of Illinois consist of 2600 pages of double column, brevier type, consisting of more than 25,000 laws, rules and methods of procedure. To modify, amend and devise new and better laws and procedure is only possible to those of experience and aptitude. Senator Dunlap has been a member of the Senate for 32 years and is again a candidate and is an invaluable servant of the state.

During the 12 years Senator Swift has served, more than 9000 bills have been introduced. He has been one of the most industrious members in aiding in defeating more than 7500 of the bills and has helped pass less than 5% of them. There are already too many laws. It takes little ability to vote "yes" and "no" but to intelligently discuss measures requires knowledge, experience and good sense.

SERVICE

He has been present in his seat every day during his 12 years that the senate has been in session, except two days when sickness in his family kept him away. No man in the legislature knows better than he the business condition of the state and no one has had the temerity in fighting many of the objectionable measures demanding money.

Of him the Legislative Voters League said: "He has made a highly creditable record; was one of the most steadfast members of the Senate in opposing the objectionable schemes of Governor Small; he has made a close study of appropriation bills and presented amendments to such bills in committee and on the floor which saved the people a great deal of money."

In the most turbulent committee meeting of the Senate in years he forced into the 100 million dollar cement road bill nearly 100 miles of additional roads for Lake, McHenry and Boone counties. Even with this additional mileage the North end of the state got less than 75% of the roads to which its traffic and auto license fees entitled it.

He has fought the fight of the dairymen and has won both indemnity money and modified regulations for them and he has plans to do more.

He has by his vote and in committee helped to limit the epidemic of wagering that was rapidly spreading over the state to five enclosures where horse racing may take place, which tracks must pay a license fee of $1500 to $2500 a day to the Department of Agriculture of the state. No track can open without giving bond to observe the law and cannot continue its meeting but 30 days in any one year. No wagering is allowed except by pari-mutuel machines which cannot retain but 6 1/2 per cent. Betting had been running into the millions of dollars and the courts and district attorneys were powerless. Now this new law backed by strong men who came to Springfield and guaranteed its enforcement will be a place to start from to still further control wagering.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"MAN" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Sunday, March 4.

The Golden Text was from Psalm 37:37, "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright: for the end of that man is peace."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "And God said, Let us make man in our image after our likeness, and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth" (Genesis 1:26).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "God and man are not the same, but in the order of divine Science, God and man co-exist and are eternal. God is the parent Mind and man is God's spiritual offspring" (p. 336).

DUSTING SEED CORN PAYS

Chemical dust treatment to combat dry rot in seed corn increases the yield of corn in cases where the seed is infected with this disease, finds the Iowa Agricultural Experiment Station after a study extending over four years. The treatment can be made for about four cents per acre.

The use of good seed is one of the most important factors in increasing the yield of corn, concludes the research department of the National association of Farm Equipment Manufacturers, after a survey of the methods used by 100-bushel corn club members in Indiana, Iowa, Nebraska, and Ohio. Seed corn accounts for only one per cent of the cost of growing corn as a rule and the extra cost of obtaining high class seed is insignificant compared to other costs and the higher yield obtained. In all cases the corn should be individual ear tested to detect ears of low germination quality and ears infected with molds. The presence of the latter can be detected by the various colors of the sprouts and molds forming on the corn when tested. Of almost equal importance is the necessity of obtaining a good stand, which depends on the preparation of a good seed bed and an accurate corn planter or which will plant the desired number of kernels in every hill in the field. Grading of the seed corn also helps to insure a good stand.

Without Newspapers

Nobody seems to know just how many weekly newspapers there are in the United States. Probably there are somewhere in the neighborhood of 15,000 weekly publications that can legitimately be called newspapers. A large percentage of these are published in one-paper towns.

Consider, then, what those towns would be without their newspapers. What is the aggregate worth to the nation of these papers?

Are any other newspapers or publications appreciably interested in the future of those towns? Will other papers take a stand for the betterment of these communities, for town and rural co-operation and development, for community betterment, for growth of business and for new enterprises?

Can the grocer, the hardware merchant, the banker, the dry goods dealer, the clothier or the other retail merchants get along without the community newspaper?

The home town newspaper is the monthpiece of the community. Through it the town makes a bid for recognition. It is one of the town's best assets. Every day weekly newspapers are doing their best for their communities.

What would your town be without your newspaper?

And yet, there are in every town where a newspaper is published, men in business who seldom, if ever, patronize the home newspaper with advertising, subscription, or other support. Such men do not belong in a newspaper town, but in a one-store country village—Chicago Tribune.

WAUKEGAN—The profile flow of water from the old artesian well at Madison street in Waukegan has dwindled down to a mere trickle and citizens of that city are fearful that within a short time the flow will cease altogether.

An investigation by Leon George, assistant to the commissioner of public property reveals that the sinking of several other artesian wells in the city has cut into the supply of this well which has a depth of 2,200 feet. The pipes have already probably rusted away, thus allowing the water to seep into other strata of earth. The cost of repair for these pipes would be almost prohibitive and the water supply would not be certain, so the city will not take any steps to bring the old well back to its former usefulness. A new city pumping station and filtration plant will be ready for operation July 1 and the city will then be assured of pure drinking water.

The Illinois Medical Practice Act, standing target for constitutional lawyers, has survived in the Supreme Court two recent attacks on its validity. In the case of Dr. Blaine L. Ramsey, who sought an injunction to prevent the professional committee from hearing and publishing charges against him, the court declared Ramsey entitled to relief, which had been denied by the Superior Court of Cook county. It did not, however, invalidate the act, the constitutionality of which had been questioned in the proceedings.

In the case of John J. McInley, who was fined in Rock Island for practicing without a license, the court reaffirmed the judgment of the lower court. Justice Duncan filed a brief dissent. "I do not agree that the medical practice act is valid," he said. "In my opinion, the act is void for unjust discrimination."

It has been the contention of chiropractors that the act under which they are licensed is unjust because their examination is by medical doctors, instead of by chiropractors.

Former Resident Of Antioch Dies At His Home In Chicago

L. M. Richardson, aged 83, of Chicago, father of Mrs. F. L. Middleton of this city, and well known to many people in Antioch, died at the family home March 5, after a brief illness.

Many years ago Mr. Richardson conducted the Sylvan Beach Hotel near here. A wide circle of friends and acquaintances will be grieved to hear of the family's bereavement. Mr. Richardson is survived by his wife and five children. Funeral services were held from the home Monday.

Local Cagers Meet Old Rivals in First Tourney Tilt Tonight

but no doubt will be handicapped by their lack of beef and height. Coach Harr has a mighty "sweet" player in Gainer; in fact, this little forward practically beat Harrington single handed. The fans like the fast-breaking team, and Wauconda is sure to be one of the favorites of the Tournament fans.

Warren has been going good all season, and is, at this writing, leading the Northwest Conference. They have lost only one conference game, to Barrington, and were defeated in a Tournament by Antioch by a 16-15 score. Coach Johnson has been very unfortunate in losing McClure, his star forward. "Mac" broke his arm during practice last week. However, he has shifted Geo. All-Conference guard, to forward and the husky southpaw has been ringing up baskets with surprising regularity. Gillens, the other forward, is a sweet shot, and the Warren boys will bear watching throughout the Tournament.

Tourney Pairings.
In the tourney drawings Liberty-ville and Wauconda drew back. Antioch plays Gurnee tonight in the opener and the second game at 8:30 will be staged between Waukegan and New Trier, Palatine and Arlington Heights and Des Plaines and Evanston will meet in the third and fourth preliminaries, the winners to meet in the semi-finals tomorrow. The survivors of the Friday contests go to the finals Saturday to decide the district championship. The winning team will be one of the entries in the sectional meet next week.
